- Financial Aid verification is a process used by colleges for quality control of student and parent information submitted during the financial aid application process. The Federal Government requires colleges to request from a random sample of their student filers a Financial Aid Verification document to verify information about the size of the family, taxable income, and non-taxable income. Students and/or parents (if applicable) must return this document to the financial aid office along with copies of their federal income tax forms.
- Be sure that all tax forms are signed when submitted for the verification process.
- Most forms are available for download on our Dental FA website
